TINKERINE DELIVERS INNOVATIVE 3D PRINTING INTEGRATION FOR ADOBE PHOTOSHOP CC

HIGHLIGHTS:

- Adobe Photoshop CC customers now have the ability to 3D print to Tinkerine's award winning Ditto™ Pro. Tinkerine users can now integrate with one of the world's largest software ecosystems

Vancouver, B.C. – June 17, 2015 -- Tinkerine™ Studios Ltd. (TSXV: TTD, FSE: WB6B and OTC: TKSTF), Canada's leading manufacturer of desktop 3D printers and 3D printing educational content, is pleased to announce it has completed 3D printing software integration with Adobe Photoshop CC ("Adobe"). Adobe is the global leader in digital media solutions.

Adobe customers now have the ability to seamlessly 3D print their designs with Tinkerine's award winning DittoPro. This new feature is available as part of the Adobe Creative Cloud 2015 release that launched yesterday.

"Adobe introduced 3D printing capabilities to Photoshop CC to make the technology more accessible," said Maria Yap, senior director of product management, Photoshop at Adobe. "The integration of Tinkerine support within Photoshop CC makes it even easier for customers to access top-of-the-line 3D printers and training resources that will enable them to create compelling 3D objects."

Tinkerine's Co-founder and Lead Software Developer, Justin Sy, added "Our software integration with Adobe opens the door for existing Photoshop CC customers to seamlessly integrate 3D printing into their workflow. We are committed to empowering users with ever improving software solutions that raise the standards of 3D printing technologies."
