Vancouver, B.C. - April 29th, 2015 - Tinkerine™ Studios Ltd. (TSXV:TTD, FSE:WB6B, OTC: TKSTF), Canada's leading manufacturer of the award winning Ditto Pro™ 3D desktop printer and 3D printing educational content, is pleased to announce it has commenced shipment to InnovatingU, an Chennai, India-based 3D printing dealer and solutions provider.

Through this relationship, InnovatingU becomes the first 3D printing training and servicing provider in India's expanding education sector, specifically selling Tinkerine's Ditto™ Pro 3D printer and software, consumables and online training support through Tinkerine U.

"InnovatingU is bringing 3D innovation labs to India," stated Sonal Lunawath, CEO at InnovatingU commented, "We will introduce 3D printing to young, developing minds; the K-12 students who will shape India's future. We all know kids learn best when they are empowered and engaged, so we have designed classes where students can learn while having fun."

Outlining InnovatingU's strategy to sell 3D printing to India's education sector, Ms. Lunawath added, "Along with our ongoing training at the InnovatingU lab, we will provide 3D printing training at educational institutes. Our team will introduce 3D printing to students via current curricula, which can be customized to meet educators and student's needs, which is complemented with Tinkerine U content. Tinkerine U's global education platform will greatly assist us to extend our reach with the added benefit of allowing educators a channel to create, modify and share lesson plans."

Tinkerine's Channel Manager Ben Yang noted, "India's burgeoning education sector is an important market for us. The addition of InnovatingU on the back of DTSL, our Hong Kong partner, solidifies our entrance into the lucrative Indian and Asian market."
